NEW YORK, May 18.—The event in financial circles to-day, was the failure of the German Banking firm of Schap-ler & Co. Their operations were very extensive. They were large shippers of petroleum and provisions, besides being dealers in gold, stocks and bonds, Their transactions generally extended into millions. The cause of the failure was heavy sales of gold on speculative account to the amount probably of eight or ten millions. The effect in Europe is awaited with considerable anxiety. There will certainly be an increased caution among brokers.

San Francisco May 13-A disgraceful affair occurred this afternoon in a block of ground on Market street, opposite the San Jose Railroad depot. Some squatters invaded the premises and were building a fence, when a woman, who claims the land, resisted them and knocked a portion of the tence down. They attacked her, pulled her hair, and struck her. Another woman went to her aid, and a large crowd immediately assembled. One of the men undertook to assist the woman, when she was shot at three times by two of the squatters. A pistol was placed at the breast of the woman, Mrs. Anthony, and she retreated, when the shots were fired. The speciators made a rush at the shooters, and knocked one named Fox down and beat him badly. A policeman arrested one of the shooters, Wm. Kirby, and he and Fox are in ### General Debility is Nature's Appeal for Help.

Thousands of persons, without any specific ailment, are the victims of languor and lassitude. The unthinking are apt to confound this species of inertion, with lazucess; whereas it usually arises from a want of organic energy for which the subjects of it are no more responcible then the near-sighted are for their defective vision. Such persons, although they may be free from pain, are as truly invalids, and as much in need of medical aid, as if they were totmented with the pangs of actute disease. They require a rosic and ALTERATYE, that will rouse and regulate their torpid organizations. In cases of this kind, HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS produce an immediate and most favorable effect. The HOSTETTER'S STUMACH BITTERS produce an immediate and most favorable effect. The debilitated and despending valetudinarian, who teels as if he were but half alive; who shous company, has no relish either for business or pleasure, is metamorphosed, by a brief course of this most potent vegetable invogorane, into poite a different be ng. The change effected by the BITTERS, in his bodily and mental condition is a surprise to himself and to his friends. He mopes no longer; the active principle of life which seemed to have died out of him is reaswishened, and he feels like a new man. Remembering that debility is not only an affliction itself, but an invitation to disease, no time should be lost in recruiting the broken-down system with this choicest and most potent of all tonics and nearwines.

Monday Morning, May 24, 1869. NEGLECTING the means at hand, we are too prone to look abroad for assistance. Whilst calling out for immigrants from Europe, we take no notice of those in our very midst, but allow them to seek other places instead of inducing or encouraging them to settle in this. The country is willing to pay places, but forget that for the same sum the material might be obtained at home. There are in this Colony married men with families acqueinted with farming, wto are willing but unable to settle owing to their not possessing sufficient means to maintain themselves and build a hut at the outstart. These, people acquainted with the habits and wants of the Colony and colonists, would form a most desir. able addition to the rural population. We think it would be profitable for the country to get such persons upon its lands, and if the means at the disposal of the Governor were applied to the building of log houses and clearing a little land round about them; such clearings would induce the class spoken of to settle, particularly it made in partially settled districts. The advantage of making these houses in partially settled districts is, that the new settler would obtain some work and no little assistance from his neighbor and thus be helped on in the world, whilst at the same time solitude would not be to him and would be lessened to those around. It is greatly to the credit of the farmers of this Colony that they have kind hearts and are willing to assist their neighbors in the way of ploughing, the loan of implements and otherwise, and that fresh people placed among them receive much neighborly attention. We would ask the Immigration Committee to have an eye to this, and likewise to discuss the question whether the chaingang could not be made more useful in providing houses for the poor than in ornamenting palaces for the rich and indolent? Why not dyke the flats of the Fraser? Make the penalty of crime beneficial to industry and virtue; invest the expense of the chairgang so that it may produce interest to the Colony. How many good effects might the associations connected with such work have upon the poor criminals themselves? With regard to immigration from foreign parts; there is a class of men in England which is much required here: we mean the agricultural laborers; they are honest, upright and industrious men, fit to become their own masters, but unable to do so for want of means. These people for a like reason are not able to get to this Colony, but would come if assistance were extended to them. There cannot be a doubt but that many of our farmers have friends and acquaintances of this sort and probably would not only help to bring them out but engage or employ them upon their arrival. In this way they would from the first meet with friends; the Gove ernment would be relieved, and the people themselves, being comfortable, would soon become accustomed to the country. First impressions frequently determine the immigrant's course, and therefore the country should make such impressions, as far as practicable, pleasing. After a while these immigrants would soon occupy pre-emption claims, assisted to do so as they would be by their friends, and thus become population, being learned and educatbeing imposed upon. By getting a number of acquaintances together, comfort is increased, but what is more, their representations to friends of a similar class at home would be a good ence, increasing and extending as the the head of their Government. Long live square of the distance, would soon become of vast power; for we are satisfied that such settlers would not speak otherwise than well of a country which offers advantages unequalled to agricultural settlers. Some years ago the Hudson Bay and Paget Sound Companies brought out a number of agriculturists for their farms. Very many of those remain and have become the best, most enterprising and prosperous of our farmers, and are well deserving of their success. The history eration of all-they afford an epitome of nearly all that can be said of the various phases of an agricultural settler's career, and are the best inducements to bringing out as soon as possible agricultural laborers and others, and using the information of those now settled to and for that purpose. There are few places in this world where the means of existence are so easily obtained. We will leave out of the questien the fact that many of our farmers for the passage of people from distant subsist upon the produce of the cultivation of a few acres, and turn to nate ural resources. How many settlers in their early career do live or have lived by means of the rod and the gun? The country abounds in deer, grouse, geese, ducks, pigeons and numerous other eatable birds and animals. The lakes swarm with trout and other fish; the shores and beaches of the country are stored with various kinds of shell, herring, cod and other fish. But turn to Fraser river-upon its riches a man may at any time feast. The salmon, in due season, are in myriads, and some exist all the year round. Early in the year colachans, the most delicious of the finny tribe, may be scooped up by the bucketful; and by means of a hook and bait set at night, the settler, on awakening in the morning, may obtain for breakfast a sturgeon of two or three hundred pounds weight! We do not underrate the toil and hardship of the settlers' early career; but we do say again that there are few if any countries where food can be so easily, so cheaply, or so pleasantly obtained. How many are there who even now, for mere pleasure, live by the rod and gun? How great an encouragement it must be to the settler to know that he can do likewise.

The Queen's Birthday.

How much that is warm, and kindly and, patriotic is conveyed by our caption. How proud every subject of Her Majesty feels when each succeeding year brings us once more to that day which chronicles the auniversary of the most universally beloved Queen that ever sat upon a throne. The thoughts associated with the highest personage in the British realms are all of such a pleasant and interesting nature. The young Princers called suddenly to the head of a great nation, assuming the responsibilities with such presence of mind and displaying throughout her actions such consummate taste and intelligence; her romantic love for her late estimable consort; her devotedness as a wife; her care, affection and rare virtues as a mother. Then we think of her under her terrible bereave ment as a widow, losing a dearly beloved husband and invaluable councillor and guide in her very arduous and important daties, in the prime of life. We think of her watchful solicitude for every thing that increases the comfort and happiness of her people; being always at the head of every list of subscriptions for charitable purposes, and being frequently the first to suggest the establishment of some useful institution, or some novel mode of procedure, with a view to the improvement or welfare of the poorer classes of her subjects. We could dwell upon this inexhaustible subject to a much greater length, did our space permit; necessity compels us to desist. Can we feel sur prised that every dependency of the British Crown should be dominated by the same feelings, and that they object to change their allegiance? People will submit to any grievance whilst the ties of love and esteem bind them to the sovereign; but when the bonds of respect most valuable additions to the rural and admiration for the Government, and the laws administered with even ed in colonial life-an important item. handed justice gives security and con-It is highly desirable that the immit tentment to all, annexationists and grant should have acquaintances or comenters of rebellion will never hear friends in the Colony, and care anything but the echo of their own should be taken to select such as voices, and will meet with the contempt have in order to prevent their of every intelligent man. ### The Hydraulic Claim on Leech River-The Prospects. The point at which Harnett & Co. tapped the Leech river ditch is about one mile and a quarter above the town of Kennedy

Flat and near the Williamson tunnel. This tunnel was driven into the hill 70 feet and then abandoned without the bedrock having been reached. After having selected the spot for tapping the ditch, a flume was constructed to carry the water across the river to the opposite side. Two massive stringers, weighing three or four tons each, and about 90 feet in length, were hewn and thrown across the river; then uprights were raised from the stringers to support a staging, the tops of two large trees were cut off and the remainder of the trees, about 40 feet in height, left standing and impressed into service as additional supports. Across these supports or uprights, some 70 feet above the river, the flume was carried. The work is of the most substantial character and displays no little engineering skill as well as energy in the part of the projectors. Having got the water across the river, canvas hose and a pipe were introduced, and four boxes with riffles were laid upon the bed-rock, the tailings running off at the river brink. In the last of these boxes was quicksilver, placed so as to catch the fine or float gold that might escape the riffles of the first three boxes. The portion of the bank attacked was composed of smooth, wahsed boulders and gravel some 15 feet in thickness. After a hole 27 feet wide by 15 deep had been made in the bank, the company estimated that five hundred tons of rock and gravel had been washed. On Friday last they cleaned up with the unfavorable result stated by us on Saturday. Only five or six dollars in gold were found to reward the company for all their labor. The gold is generally coarse. Some of the pieces will weigh ten or twelve cents. The result surprises while it does not dishearten the con. pacy, they having, before commencing to wash, obtained a prospect of $2 50 from a eingle pan of dirt raised from the bank which has just been hydrauliced so unfavorably. About 100 feet back of the river there is a depression in the bank which is supposed to indicate the presence of an old channel, the line of which can be traced from the flume to a distance of 300 feet, where it turns abruptly riverward. It is the intention of the company to extend their flume to the lower end of this (supposed) old channe and work upstream for a week or ten days in the belief that rich diggings will be found there. Many attempts to reach the bedrock in the back channels on Leech by means of shafts have signally failed; but it is the opinion of two experienced miners-Mess's. Petersen and White-who are assisting Mr. Harnett, that with bydraulies an attempt would result successfully. On both sides of Harnett & Co. a great deal of gold in coarse nuggets was obtained, in 1864-5, in the bed of the stream. The theory that the matrix or fountain-head of this gold is somewhere in the adjacent hills is supported by the experience of other gold countries; but whether the present company are destined to be the fortunate discoveries of that fourtain-head is a problem which nothing short of that a practical test will solve. CELEBRATION OF THE QUEEN'S BIRTHDAY. -Should the weather to-day prove auspicious (as we write there is a rather dim outlook). Ae one the horses will be started in the first race for the Trial Stakes. The races will be five in number and, should a due regard for punctuality be observed, the last heat should be over by 41 o'clock. A good deal of interest is felt as to the resul contests, upon which considerable sums of money are depending. A very general disposition is manifested to suspend business, and few, if any, stores will be opened. To morrow, the grand Regatta up the Arm will come off. The boats in the first race will start at one o'clock. At 11 o'clock barges will leave the H. B. Co's, wharf in tow of the steamer Leviathan, for the Gorge, where pic-nic parties and booth-keepers have selected eligible and convenient locations The boats in both the long and short course will start from and return to the Gorge, The game of base ball, between the Rapier and Olympic Clubs, it is proposed, shall commence to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock and end in time to afford the Olympics and guests an opportunity of witnessing the Regatta. Taken all in all, the preparations for this day's observance of the holiday exceed those of any previous anniversary of Her Majesty's natal day.

> AONE of the new embryo emporiums on the Sound (Tacoma) has had its pretensions shortened an inch or two. The depth of water is so great that no bottom can be found in the harbor and vessels must keep under headway or run aground.

From the Mainland.

SAN FRANCISCO .- The people of San Fran cisco are at last about to pay the penalty always exacted for thoughtless extravagance and wild speculation. At this moment real estate, if placed on the market, would not produce more than fifty per cent. of its value two months ago. Produce is lying in immense quantities in the warehouses, with very little prospect of ever realizing the cost of freight, storage and rent. The best commercial bills are discounted with difficulty at very high rates, and second class paper is simply valueless on change. The consequence of this deplorable state of affairs upon those, no portion of whose means are sufficiently secured to protect them against the results of such sudden revulsions of fortune, is distressing beyond measure; for many among the middle class it is real poverty; for the poor it is misery and want. The causes of this sad change at the Bay City are manily in bringing about the catastrophe so soon; the superficial appearance might otherwise have been sustained for some time lorger; but the sudden depletion succeeding the wild excitement about the mines,-the sum in coin diverted to White Pine amounted to fully two and a balf millions-hastened the crisis, and existing difficulties of even more serious character are likely to make the ruin complete. Speculators in real estate bought entirely for one event-the completion of the Pacific Railroad-and that has in no way realized the sanguine calculations of the buyers; on the contrary, after investing all they possessed and hypothecaring the property so bought to complete the purchases, they see nothing before them in the present state of the money market but total wreck.

Produce, by that odd coincidence that always attends misfortune, is at a nominal value, there being no demand for it at home or abroad, and, to cap the cimax, gold is going up in price, currency falling in value, and a general desire prevails to realize, ac-

The White Pine fever aided material-

Cariboo is once more assuming its wonted degree of animation; everyone is preparing in the way best adapted for bimself to commence the season's work, and, from all appearance, the present is I kely to be better than any of the last three or four years The hydraulic claims on the upper part of William Creek have started a fortnight sooner than last year, and some of them are already taking out money; below the canon they are all busily at work, the Bed Rock Drain being supposed perfectly safe for the year. On Stout and Conklin Gulches the late excitements have induced an early commencement in the shafts or tunnels, which promise most encouragingly. Among the creeks of minor importance, Mosquito, Lowhee and Lightning, are giving good indications, several claims at this early stage paying tolerably well. An inquest was held on on the body of an Italian named Tibaidi who was killed by the caving of a bank on Nelson Creek. A rather smart trick was played by a man of the name of McIntyre on on some celestials who were sluicing opposite Oregon Jack's, on the Thompson; he found they had no miners' licenses and coolly jumped the ground; it is said they were taking out $13 per day to the hand. The people of Quesnelmouth and Soda Creek express their grat tude for opportune as istance to the Peace River exploring expedition. The velocipede disease seems to have been communicated to the lieges at Barkers vill by a "celebrated velocipedist." The progress in grading and forming sidewalks in that handsome little city, is raidly progressing; the spirit of improvement is taking the right direction. The telegraph operator up there, does not seem to have enough of business, and telks of shutting up shop unless he receives assistance from the Government. We wish he may get it. Their famous "Macassar Oil" has been counterfeitted in France, Germany, and elsewhere, but none of he spurious preparations have possessed the extaordinary properties of the genuine article. Rowland's "Kalydor" for the complexion has retained its prominent place among fashionable cosmetics notwithstanding the numerous new articles introduced for the complexion. The "Odonto" for the teeth is highly prized by thousands who have used no other dentifrice for years. Rowlands' great success during the past two generations, and their present prominent position as manufacturers may justly be past two generations, and their present prominent position as manufacturers, may justly be attributed to the excellent character of their articles, and to the fact that unlike many other proprietors of established fame, they do not allow their cosmetics to deteriorate in anality.

Holloway's Ointment and Pills,—Old Wounds, Sores, and Ulcers.—Daily experience confirms the fact which has triumphed over opposition for thirty years—vir, that no means are known equal to Holloway's remedies for curing bad legs, sores, wounds, diseases of the skin, erysipelas, abscesses, burns, scalds, and, in truth all cases where the skin is broken. To cure these infirmities quickly is of prinary importance, as the compulsory confinement indoors weakens the general health. The ready means of cure are found in Holloway's Ointment and Pills, which heal the sores and expel their cause. In the very worst cases, the Ointment has succeeded in affecting a perfect cure after every other means failed of giving any relief. Desperate cases best display its virtues.
